"SHEK" CHARGES BORE MISS RAMBEAU IN STAGE TRIANGLE

STAR CALLS LOVE THEFT ACCUSATIONS 'STUPID'

New York, July 1.—The first arguments in the counter separation suit brought by Blanche Yurka against her actor husband, Ian Keith, were heard before Judge Plateak.

The case was then adjourned until tomorrow, to enable certain papers sent by Keith, who is now in the West, to arrive. Counsel for Miss Yurka made a motion for attorney of $250 a week and $2000 counsel fees.

Starline Rambeau, married to Miss Yurka in her action as having been the recipient of young Keith's love when his wife no longer pleased him, is reported "lured with the whole stupid affair." Recently she telephoned from Philadelphia.

"Miss Yurka's charges are absurd and unfounded," she said.

All three actors in this real drama of the stage today are waiting for "news" and depending on the clever "business" of their lawyer-director to see that the play has a satisfactory ending.

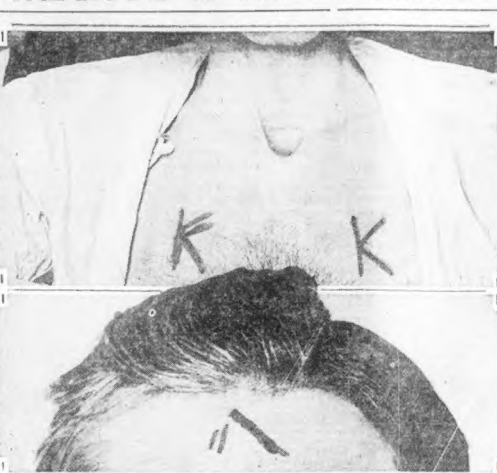

RIDICULOUS SAYS KEITH.

Young Keith said: "It is ridiculous for Miss Yurka to bring this counter action and drag Miss Rambeau's name into it. She is just acting in desperation. That's all. Well, maybe the whole mess will clear up a lot of things I'm in doubt about."

"Seems to me I know less about my wife than almost anybody else. I believed her twenty-nine when I married her September 5, 1922. She is about thirty-nine. I believed she had never been married before. I have heard from several sources that she has a former husband living in Europe and a twelve-year old son."

Young Keith's real name is Marcus by Rose. He was born in Scotland and has been on the stage only four years, during which he has risen

THE BRAND OF THE 'KU KLUXERS'

NELSON BURROUGHS' WOUNDS PHOTOGRAPHED

Organizer of the Knights of Columbus in Rochester, N. H., where the Klan is active, says that three marks on his chest and forehead were branded into his flesh with a red hot iron by a gang of men who kidnapped him in an auto in a shack, supposedly near Haverhill, Mass., from which he escaped after being held prisoner for seventeen days. For months Burroughs said he has been receiving letters warning him to give up the Catholic Church and return to Protestantism. When his captors gave him the alternative of renunciation or branding, he says he chose the latter.

ARREST OF TRIO BARES LOOT IN $148,000 THEFT

Securities Stolen From New York Banker Found on 'Tip' of Providence Suspect

New York, July 1.—Securities valued at $148,000, stolen from the home of George H. B. Smith, president of the Citizens National Bank of Oneonta, N. Y., June 2, were recovered today with the arrest of two men charged with grand larceny.

The recovery of the securities followed the arrest in Providence, R. I., last Friday of a man in whose car the securities, police found $1000 worth of the securities stolen from Burt's home.

The man arrested, described there as Arthur Hamilton and James Sawyer, both of this city. The former arrested in Providence from his car on Jackson, he found.

Information given by him led to the arrest of Hamilton and Sawyer. The police said the securities were found in Hamilton's home.

FRENCH AT LYONS HIT BERNSTORFF

Lyons, France, July 1.—(A.P.)—One of the foremost topics of discussion among the delegates to the congress of the Federation of League of Nations Societies in the declaration by Count von Bernstorff (last United States of Europe should be formed as the best means of ending the war, "with the formulae of peace" and "the principle of self-determination" being generally accepted as the basis of the new order.

There will be no official reception by the city of Lyons. The French government and this mission was intentional and was due to the presence of Count von Bernstorff as chief of the German delegation, the French desire to show him no courtesy because of his attitude with the League of Nations.

subordinator at Washington. This sentiment is widely confirmed in Lyons. Bernstorff and does not include the Germans as a whole, as the French desire to establish cordial relations with the German people.

Stars in Latest Triangle of the Play World

IAN KEITH, romantic actor, twenty-four, in real life finds himself at the apex of a triangular stage. He is a rising young film god, a "home" among the newest variety of "stage sheiks," and now is seeking a separation from his wife.

BLANCHE YURKA, the wife, is a prominent actress and portrayed of "Queenly" type. The daughter of a noted Hungarian professor, she married Keith when he was twenty-three.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU, third point to the Keith-Yurka-Rambeau triangle. A noted actress, young, vivacious, portrayed of "the girl type."

PROGRESSIVES WILL RUSH THEIR WORK

Cleveland, July 1.—With the arrival of William H. Johnston, chairman of the conference for progressive action today, he will take charge of the preparations for the congress which opens here July 1.

Johnston will deliver the keynote address.

Although efforts will be made to conclude the convention, the leaders of the conference believe it will last through Friday and Sunday. Night sessions will be held necessary, they said.

PACIFIC BOATS TO SAIL FROM MAINE

Portland, Me., July 1.—After a long without intercontinental steamship service for a period of more than a month, operations from this port to Seattle, Bellingham, Tacoma, and other Pacific Coast points is to be resumed shortly by the Dollar Steamship Line according to representatives of the line who were in Portland to perfect arrangements.

The first sailing from this port to the Pacific Coast will be on July 1.

NEWTON BOY SET AFIRE BY 'JOKER'

Another Youth Ignites Fuse of Fireworks Protruding From Pocket

The prank of a Newton boy nearly cost the life of twelve-year-old Joseph McGurkin of Columbia street, Woburn.

Young McGurkin purchased a "silver fountain" in a fireworks store on Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, and was strolling home with the piece in his back pocket, the fuse protruding.

The practical joker approached McGurkin from behind, struck a match and touched it to the fuse.

In a moment a fountain of fire was shooting up from the boy's pocket. His clothes were ignited and he ran about in flames, panic-stricken.

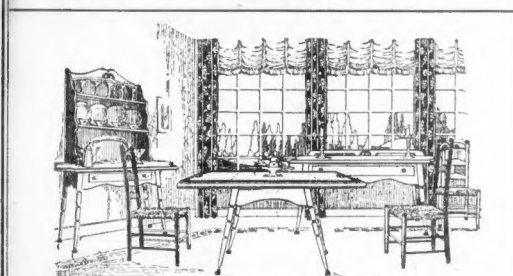

James McFall, fifteen years old, of three street, Newton Lower Falls, pushed McGurkin into a nearby building, and extinguished the flames.

Thomas H. Quinn, an employee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., who was working as a laborer, also rushed to the aid of McGurkin. The boy was removed to his home suffering from burns about the back and legs.

EGYPTIAN PREMIER QUILTS OVER SUDAN

London, July 1.—The Anglo-Egyptian crisis on the question of the Sudan as a British possession is taking a prominent place in both the British and Egyptian Parliaments. Lord Parmoor's recent emphatic announcement in the House of Lords that the government under no circumstances would abandon the Sudan resulted in the Egyptian prime minister, Zaglul, tendering his resignation which, however, King Fuad refused to accept. Zaglul has agreed to continue in office.

CHARGE "FAKE"

Burrows' disappearance, visited Mrs. Burrows and conferred with her. The Rochester man recently said he had been in the city for some time and had to have many debts, but his financial claim he has more than enough money in the bank to cover them.

Nelson bears two "K's" on his breast, each three inches high, and a portion of a "K" on his forehead. The iron having slipped while being applied to his head and part of it reaching his hair, he says.

One self-avowed member of the Klan here is being closely watched today. He is known to have been in Dover last Thursday on the day the branding was done and has been seen in consultation with other men, supposedly active in Klan work, during the intervening days.

In the absence of the Democratic convention of County Solicitor Clyde Kerfe, investigation of Burrows' case was begun today by Sheriff Stephen Scorton of Dover and Deputy Sheriff Frank Callahan of Rochester.

The two sheriffs visited Rochester and had a long conference with Rev. Anne P. Boire, pastor of St. Leo's church at Dover, in the southern part of this city.

KLAN STRENGTHENED.

The city is known as the Klan stronghold in New England, the organization having their quarters in the famous old Wallace mansion, where on meeting nights a big crowd is gathered.

The general belief is that at Dover Burrows was induced to enter the automobile which carried him away by some non-residents, who later turned him over to local men for the branding.

Many declared his story "fishy" until they saw photographs of the brands and talked with several local men who have visited Burrows in Lawrence.

Burrows' story was further corroborated by two young women of this city, Miss Elizabeth Hart and Miss Anna Swenson, who saw him on the State road near Haverhill last Friday, which was the day Burrows declared he made his way from the wooded spot where he was turned loose into Haverhill.

SEEN BY WOMEN.

The two women were passing in an automobile and saw Burrows limping along the road.

Burrows was crippled in an accident several years ago and uses a wooden leg. In spite of this handicap he held his own in the road, without aid to Haverhill and then to Lawrence.

A checkup of Burrows' financial condition was made while he was in Lawrence and it was discovered that he had no reason to leave home on this account. He was winding up his business and although he owed a few hundred dollars, he still has more than enough money in the bank here to take care of it.

FRIENDS BELIEVE STORY.

Great care was taken by his friends to ascertain if this story was true before asking the police to act. The best clue is believed to be the scene of the branding. Burrows' friends he wandered through the woods for a time after being released, and the first automobile he remembers is a light-colored roadster two miles to Haverhill.

Many believe the affair may have occurred in the vicinity of Haverhill.

APPLICATIONS SHOULD BE IN THE MAILS Appletons Gather At Their Summer Place In Ipswich, Says Betty Alden

Veterans Must Act Promptly on Claims for Adjusted Compensation

BY THE SOLDIER'S FRIEND
Attention, veterans!
Today is mailing day for your adjusted compensation application, the time in the mails immediately.
If you haven't filed out your application yet, if you haven't received an application blank or if you haven't also in the mails COME IN HERE.
The Soldier's Friend wants to see all veterans in need of assistance in the matter of applying for a bonus under the newly enacted law.
Be sure your application is filled out properly. If it is not, it surely will come back to you. You cannot want rapid delays. Better let the American-Advertiser experts help you. All Free.
Here are some questions and answers:

J. R. M., Fall River.
Q.—My husband was in the 104 Army from October 21, 1918, to December 17, 1918. Is he entitled to a cash bonus?

A.—Apparently your husband served less than sixty days and, therefore, would not be entitled to receive anything under the Bonus Law.

N. J. L., Haverhill.
Q.—I served twenty-two months in Panama during the World War. Would this service be counted as overseas and how much will my bonus amount to?

A.—Service in Panama is regarded as home service and you will be entitled to a credit of $100 a day for each day after the first sixty days. The amount of your twenty-two months' paid-up adjusted compensation certificate will be about $1,500.

A. G. M., Plainfield, Ct.
Q.—I enlisted November 4, 1918, and was honorably discharged December 14, 1918. Am I entitled to anything under the Bonus Law?

A.—If your length of service was less than sixty days you will not be entitled to receive anything.

MRS. E. P., Norfolk, Downs.
Q.—I am the mother of a World War veteran who served in France from Dec. 15, 1917, to Feb. 22, 1919, was honorably discharged March 17, 1919, and who died seven months later. Am I entitled to the bonus?

A.—If you were dependent for support upon your son at the time of

As soon as the North Shore season opens, members of the sport-loving Appleton clan begin to gather at "Appleton Farm" in Ipswich.
This place is one of the largest estates on the Shore and from early spring until late into the Fall different members of the family may be found there.
Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton of New York, who are there for the season, have with them their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wendell (Ruth Appleton). The latter is a most attractive brunette, resembling not a little her sister, Mrs. Clarence L. Hay (Alice Appleton). Mrs. Hay, who also spends much of her time at Ipswich or elsewhere on the Shore, is one of the Shore's most enthusiastic equestrians.

The Appleton family seems thoroughly "in the saddle home." James W. Appleton, who is M. P. H. of the Myopia Hunt Club, and Randolph Morgan, Appleton are at the "Mansion House," which is also on the Appleton estate in Ipswich.

Among the oldest members of the summer colony to enjoy the cooling breezes at Manchester-by-the-Sea are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lyman, Jr. (Eleanor Higginson), who are spending their second season at the Morgan place on Smith's Point.

Mr. Lyman's parents are at the nearby Beverly Farms estate, where they have with them all usual their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hunnewell (Mina Lyman), and their young family.
Mrs. George Lyman, Jr.'s sister, Mrs. Bernard P. Rogers, Jr. (Nina Higginson) will probably come on from her home in Chicago for a visit at Prides Crossing with her parents, the Francis L. Higginsons.

MRS. GEORGE H. LYMAN, JR.
Mrs. George H. Lyman, Jr. (Eleanor Higginson) is spending her second season at the Morgan place on Smith's Point.

Among the members of the Manchester colony this season are Mr. and Mrs. Gardner H. Pike, who have leased the Tower place on Cobb avenue.

Mrs. Pike, who is a former Miss G. O. Stansfield, is one of the society's most frequent exhibitors at the yearly horse shows held during the season.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry P. Heals and their family have returned from abroad and are established in their summer place at Beverly.

Last year their place was the scene of numerous polo affairs given for their daughter, Miss Heals, whose formal home to society was made in the Fall, this season, a tall slender beauty, was one of the most attractive girls of the season.

HOUSE OWNER LAMONT SEEKS TO BE PURGED OF CONTEMPT Newton Man, Overseeing Re-pairs, Found Dead With Gas Jet Open

Petition of Redmond Company President to Be Passed on by Judge Morton

James R. Lamont, president of G. P. Redmond & Co., Inc., defendant in a case brought by the Newton man, was expected to learn today whether he will have to stay in jail or not.

Lamont, who has been in the East Cambridge jail on a contempt of court charge for more than two months, is attempting to purge himself of this charge. Whether he will be purged or not, depends on U. S. District Judge Morton, who committed him to jail and before whom the present matter is being heard.

Lamont was committed for contempt after he failed to obey an order of Judge Morton to turn over to the Redmond Company a number of stock ledgers and books the property of the Redmond Company which it is claimed to be fraudulently concealing.

Lamont says he burned the books, and at the present hearing brought into court witnesses who either saw the burning of the books which is alleged to have taken place on his Natick estate, or who helped in some way to destroy them.

The witnesses described in detail the way in which the books were taken out of the Redmond Company's office and the manner in which they were burned. The hearing resumed this morning.

$500 Dorchester Fire

FIRST OUTING FOR MOTHERS ON JULY 15

American's Nantasket Trips to Be Continued Through Summer

The Boston American's annual "Mothers and Children Day Outings," at Nantasket beach will be resumed this summer on Tuesday, July 15.

Once again thousands of mothers and children will be relieved from the heat and glare of the city for a day's outing at the seashore.

Last year 14,000 persons, members of the Boston American family, enjoyed a new trip, bathing and entertainment, including free ice cream cake and milk.

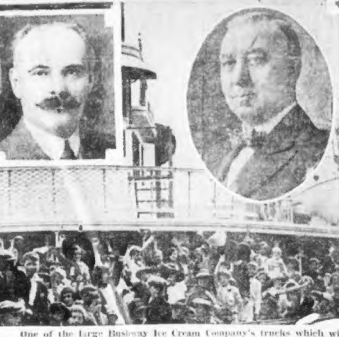

This summer, given favorable weather, it is expected that so many if not more will be able for the day at least, to forget their daily sorrows and troubles.

From the North, South and West Ends, from East and North Boston, Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, and all over Greater Boston, offering children and their mothers will flock to the boats provided by the Boston American.

BLOOD TEST IS HARD BLOW AT SCOFFLAWS

City Hospital Pathologists Can Tell Whether They Have Had 1 or Many

Scofflaws were dismayed today when word was passed around the best boulevard circles that the scientific staffs at City Hospital have developed a test that utterly defeats any subterfuge or evasion. A blood test can also determine the varying grades of intoxication, TNT and red stuff consumed by their subjects.

And with a treatment of carbon dioxide gas an absolutely "dead to the world" scofflaw can be restored to consciousness within an hour.

TWO BOATS TO SAIL

These boats, two to sail, will leave from the Nantasket beach, at different hours in the morning, for a delightful sail of one hour down the harbor to Nantasket.

After a day at the famous beach the guests of the American will be returned on the same boats, arriving at different hours.

Through the kindness of several organizations, a number of refreshments will be thrown upon to foster holders at the beach, together with a bathhouse.

Tuesday, July 15, is the big day and the entire day will be spent at the beach, together with a bathhouse.

CLIP FIVE COUPONS

All that will be necessary will be to clip five newspaper coupons from the Boston American, and present them with ten cents in cash at the headquarters of the Boston American "Mothers and Children's Day Outing," No. 25, Nantasket street, Boston.

This office will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on Tuesday, July 15, and on Wednesday, July 16, and on Thursday, July 17, and on Friday, July 18, and on Saturday, July 19, and on Sunday, July 20, PRESIDENT IN NEW CALL FOR ECONOMY

Coolidge Orders Aids to Cut Expenses Coming Year and Reduce Taxes Further

Washington, July 1.—The President today, with its administrative heads, ordered by President Coolidge to continue strict adherence to the program of economy in order that the country may be further relieved in its tax burden.

The President voiced emphatically his purpose to obtain a maximum of efficiency in administration, with a minimum of expenditure, in an address before the seventh semi-annual meeting of the business executives of the government at the close of the fiscal year.

More than a thousand executive officers heard the chief executive outline his policies for the future with the declaration that his subordinates must support them to the utmost.

A detailed analysis of the government's fiscal achievements during the past three years was presented by the President, showing that in the past twelve months, with some slight increase in the total revenue, the government had saved one million dollars and a surplus of more than two hundred million dollars was turned into the treasury.

The President said that the fiscal year finds experts in disagreement as to the prospects for tax returns for the next twelve months, with some predicting that the changed tax rates will stimulate productivity to such a point that there will be no noticeable reduction in tax receipts.

NAVY HEADS NEW STUDY OF OCEAN

Washington, July 1.—Representatives of the various executive departments and scientific establishments of the government met at a conference at the Navy Department today for the purpose of formulating plans for a naval expedition to investigate the oceanographic conditions in the Atlantic Ocean.

The expedition, which will be headed by the hydrographic expert of the Navy Department, explained the purpose of the expedition as serving the varied interests of the navy, commerce and navigation, as well as the numerous scientific which draw their data from oceanographic research.

ACCIDENTS KILL 3 IN PROVIDENCE

Providence, July 1.—Three fatalities occurred here.

Frank Pond, seven, of No. 125 Union street, was run over near his home by an automobile and died half an hour later. Charles Raynes was struck by a Fall River bound New Haven electric train and died from a fractured skull.

Edward Hollywood, drowned in Warwick Pond, Lakeside, while his mother stood helplessly on the porch of her home waiting a futile attempt to rescue him.

KEEP this famous old ginger ale in mind when you are planning your Fourth of July holiday.
Whether you stay at home and brave the city's heat, or take a little trip to green-clad woods or seashore's sand, you'll welcome a cool, refreshing bottle of "Canada Dry."
For "Canada Dry" is a real ginger ale, made from real Jamaica ginger—so pure and wholesome that it has been served for years in the hospitals in Canada and is now actually prescribed by scores of physicians in this country.
May we suggest that you place your order early? It is quite likely that your favorite grocer, druggist, confectioner or deli-catesse will be sold out if you wait too long!

MOXIE

When things go wrong don't frown or growl or sigh

Life's worth while, if you smile

Your way you'll surely win if you will grin.

With Moxie ready you'll go steady.

CHORUS

Moxie, oh Moxie me for you

I don't know what I could do without you.

As a drink you're a hummer, in winter or summer,

There's something so pleasant about you.

Oh, you stand the test, for you are the best:

I'll send all the rest down the line.

Let others keep trying; you're so satisfying.

There's nothing like Moxie for mine.

PHILADELPHIA IS PLACE OF THRILLS

A single game in Philadelphia is a place of thrills. It is not the fact that the Philadelphia Athletics are playing the Boston Red Sox in the cellar stairs of the City Hotel, but the fact that the game is being played in a place where the fans are so close to the action that they can hear the ball hitting the bat. The game is being played in a place where the fans are so close to the action that they can hear the ball hitting the bat.

Three Cheers for the Bucket Shortage

Don't Do Just Enough to Earn Your Pay

You Will Never Get More Unless You Are Worth It

Among the young men who are fond of making sarcastic references to Fate because they have not been more successful in this expression is very common:

"I'm earning all the money I'm getting. I don't intend to do any more work than I'm paid for."

This rule a great many men follow very carefully. They estimate what they think they ought to do to earn their salaries, and they do that and no more. They feel that they are absolutely just to their employers because they are conscientious in their effort to earn what is paid for.

This logic may be sound, although usually a man's estimate of what work is worth is not very accurate, but it is about as dangerous a mental attitude as a wage earner can take.

If a man is not worth more than he is getting, it stands to reason that HE WILL NEVER GET MORE.

As long as he is earning his present salary, his employers have no object in paying him one which he doesn't earn.

When a man who owns a business raises a salary, he does it because he finds it profitable to himself to do so. There is very little sentiment concerned in the transaction.

The employer doesn't pay a layman any more money in the hope of making him industrious. That hope would never be realized.

He does not advance the salary of a man in the expectation that the man will be worth more to the concern. The employer knows that an expectation of that kind would be idiotic.

When salaries are raised, they are raised to meet the growing value of men who are earning more than they get.

The business man knows that to keep good men working for him he must pay them according to WHAT THEY DO, not what they would do if they got more money.

In all kinds of business where men are employed there is a large class of clerks and other wage earners who work only for a pay day.

They are continually haunted by the fear that they will do more than their neighbor, who is paid the same, or that they will wear out their brains in order to make another man's fortune.

They will always continue to work for pay day, and their envelopes at the end of each week will always contain the same amount of money—or less; for when a man lacks interest in what he is doing he soon begins to fall off in his earning power.

Meanwhile, the men who keep interested, who are not afraid of doing more than they are paid for, and who are so much worried about wearing out their brains as they are about using them too little, are the men whose wages are advanced.

Employers learn that such men steadily earn more than they are paid, and while their salaries may never keep pace with their value—there would be no profit in employing them if such was the case—at least are progressing, and soon will leave their pessimistic young friends far behind.

Another thing which the man who goes out after success soon learns is that when he does another man's work he must do it better than his predecessor did.

If one bookkeeper or clerk takes the place of another, he will attract no attention as long as he does the work EXACTLY AS IT WAS DONE BEFORE.

If he does not do it as well, he will not be likely to last very long in his new position. But if he does it BETTER, he will be noticed, and will stand an excellent chance of promotion.

In any business rule as soon formed, and the man who takes the place of another finds it easier to get into the same rut, and plod steadily along there, satisfied if he brings down upon himself no criticism.

He is usually content because he is not paid as much as the other man. He does the work, he says, and he ought to get the same pay.

But the man who is doing the paying is not looking for that kind of substitute.

He is a rut himself, and the fact that everything is going on as formerly makes no particular impression on him. But if the new man once gets out of the rut, and does things that the man whose place he took could or did NOT DO, then he begins to be noticed and marked out for advancement.

All young men are naturally anxious to earn more money—to get, somehow or other, that valuable and useful thing which is known as success.

Unhappily the system of employment in use by the great corporations limits the opportunities of vast numbers of their employees, and make it necessary for many of them to work for far less than their services are worth; but the men who DO advance are not those who are the most careful to do only that for which they are paid.

And big corporations, as well as individual employers, are alive to the value of men who CAN LEARN TO BE WORTH MORE, and that is the kind of men who get the big salaries in the end, or acquire the information and experience which enables them some day to get into business for themselves, and become employers on their own account.

All Right, Perhaps

Who Knows?

It is announced that dealers in fraudulent dolls, bucket- shops, etc., take a THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS a year out of foolish people. That sounds like a great deal of money. Yet it is quite probable that the education is WORTH what it costs.

And what's more important, although it may seem cruel to suggest it, it is probably a good thing for the country that so many lose their savings and go back to work, instead of living in idleness Providence works mysteriously.

The whole wealth of the nation is in its WORKING inhabitants. The spirit of adventure, of foolish investing, of gambling keeps many able men poor, and, therefore, keeps them working.

That may be the plan of wise Providence, to keep ability from wasting time in idleness. No savings? BACK TO WORK.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN'S BROTH is the sun-burnt—just have to wait patiently and let it WEAR off.

Any good-looking man can make a woman believe that black is white—but it takes an article of love or a finished liar to make her believe that black is pink and gold covered with star-dust.

"Would I prefer to be tried by a jury of men or a jury of women?" I'm inclined, if I'm inclined, by a jury of women, because then I'll get JUSTICE. If I'm guilty by a jury of men—because if I married my hair and wear a bonnet, hat I'll get MERCY."

A woman's idea of a good income is always "just a little bit more."

Most bachelors are born, not made—and remain bachelors through ALL their marriages.

The ruling passion of a woman's life is the consuming desire to know what a man is DOING—and the ruling passion of a man's life is the burning desire to tell a woman how to DO whatever she's doing.

A man can teach a woman anything—even to swim, if she'll only stay on top of the water and stop "singing" while he's holding her head down and her heels up.

Now that divorce is as common as cabbage and as intriguing as last year's styles, it is not only no longer a stigma—it is not even a distinction.

He who has "bottled sunlight," the day can't be far off when we may listen to his own, that low-making by the tongue glow of "canned moonlight."

The mind of a woman, like a department store, is supposed to contain a little of everything, from books and babies' bibs to pickles, jars and position.

Alas, poor Solomon! With all those wives—and no stenographer to tell his troubles to—

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

Expectant Mother

Editor Helping Hand: I am a woman in very hard circumstances and need help. I am married and expect to become a mother in the early fall and I have no way in which to provide clothes for my expected baby. My husband is trying hard to find work but he doesn't succeed, being inexperienced. I have been trying to take in extra washings and doing a little housework outside but my present condition will not let me work any longer. We are both young and trying so hard to succeed and if you will help us I will be very thankful.

MRS. H. W.

Letter of Thanks

Editor Helping Hand: We received the things Mr. C. had for us and were just like two kids on Christmas morn. He can never realize how much he has done for us. As he is going away soon I wish you would please print my letter so he may be able to see it. His baby is sick and my money goes every night for a quick recovery.

MRS. H. W.

Old Lady Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand: I am an old lady and have no way to earn anything for myself. I have been sick all the Spring and the doctor said I must have had my clothes fit to wear. But you please help me to a suit, size 38, as I have no outside garment and some dresses or gowns to wear. I would be glad to go to try to earn that way.

MRS. P. A. A.

Words of the Wise Men

Little mitea kinde the fire, but great ones put it out. The good woman is known to bad weather. Labor has an ever root but a sweet taste.

Wise men hear by other men's mistakes, fools by their own.

He that upon a true principle lives, without any disquiet

For Boy of 4-8

Editor Helping Hand: I have written several times before for names, and have had such nice letters from those I have helped. It makes giving a real pleasure. Now will you send me the address of some one who has boys four and six. I have several wash suits, a little faded, but in good condition to give away.

Other of their essence besides that

There is, of course, no question about the usefulness of the sensitiveness of the eye. Even the eyes of the same person at times vary remarkably in this respect. And there is reason to believe that some animals, such as cats and owls, can see quite clearly in the dark, and that some can see through the most impenetrable obscurity. But there is no evidence that any animal whatever can use for unusual purposes any form of radiation other than that which is abundant for us.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON WHAT IS TO BECOME OF THE WORLD?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

STATESMEN and political spokesmen are given more these days to viewing with alarm than to pointing with pride.

The ponderous editor vies with the excited soap-box orator in shouting us we are on the verge, on the verge.

Preachers and literary folk demonstrate that ruin is just ahead.

In fact, a good part of the energy of our instructors and entertainers seems to be devoted to scaring the daylight out of us.

Meanwhile the world goes lumbering on. The ocean heeds the apostrophe of W. S. Gilbert:

"No ill on!" Little children are playing marbles in the street, the cook is busy peeling potatoes, the young lady and her June-cakes are holding hands in the parlor, Pa is busy selling snails at the hardware store and Grandma is knitting on the front porch.

Only here and there one of us gets heated up in our mind and feels the world is wobbling.

What of it? Suppose we hang into a comet tomorrow? Suppose the Bolsheviks blow us up and the Japanese grab the pieces, and the trusts and capitalists devour us, and all the labor unions strike, and the baby chokes on a quartet, and the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse come loping over the hill, and there's a panic, and the end of the world comes the fifth of next month and the devil flies away with it?

In spite of our fits of despair the world is getting better all the time. The poorest among us have comfort and luxuries that even kings did not have a few years ago.

God is attending to the universe. And even if you don't believe in God, you must admit that You are not running it. Time stalks on. Evolution continues to evolve. Destiny has its own plan, and it is mighty close about them.

All our life is an adventure. No body, outside of the graveyard, is safe. Sin was in the world long before little Johnny began to cry over it, and will probably still be on hand long after he has wiped his eyes and gone to bed.

All we can do is each, in his small corner, to play his part and be as happy as he can.

He'd as well be happy. Why not? For whether we be glad or sad, the universe rolls on, as aforesaid.

The Creator made the world. It's His, not ours. And neither the little boy at school nor grownups who ought to know better accomplish anything but their own undoing when they play God.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON X-RAY EYES

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

ONE of the latest forms of mystification that has been pushing its way into the popular mind is the "X-ray eye." The performer in this case professes to be able to see through the solid, opaque bodies or structures of the human body.

Without claiming the invention of disembodied spirits, the practitioners of this art, or the exploiters of their claims, affirm that their eyes have a supernatural penetrating power, and are able to see through the thickness of metal, or of solid wood.

In some cases at least, they claim that they must have a fairly bright daylight in order to succeed. This is urged as proof that the eyes are not so sensitive as the exploiters of them claim.

"Through" solids is a radiation of energy, and not a vision. It is the X-ray, of penetrating opaque bodies.

Since the precise functions of the complicated structures that make up the eye are not understood, and its connections with the optic nerve have not yet been entirely disclosed to science, it is easy to persuade many persons of the possibility that certain eyes may have the power to utilize radiation which in ordinary eyes produce no visual effect whatever, and are not even perceived, so long as the darkness, is full of phenomena invented by the imagination.

There is, of course, no question about the usefulness of the sensitiveness of the eye. Even the eyes of the same person at times vary remarkably in this respect. And there is reason to believe that some animals, such as cats and owls, can see quite clearly in the dark, and that some can see through the most impenetrable obscurity. But there is no evidence that any animal whatever can use for unusual purposes any form of radiation other than that which is abundant for us.
